

FCC Commissioners
The Federal Communications Commission RE: Docket 04-435
445 12th Street, SW
Washington, DC 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners ,

I am writing to voice my concerns about the FCC's proposal to relax the restrictions on the use of cell phones on airplanes in flight.

The idea of having someone sit next to me for three hours yacking on the phone the whole way is enough to make me not want to fly again. People are discourteous enough as it is when they are using their phone. Don't put me in a cramped space, with someone on a phone, where I can't escape! There is nothing that important that the person can't wait until they arrive at their destination to call about.

There is no good evidence either way whether or not cell phones interfere with navigational instruments but I don't want to be on the first plane where they find out they are harmful.

For the sake of us who want to have a pleasant flight, please, please leave the current rules in effect.

Sincerely,

sheila sims
